Books: “A Virgil Workbook” by Katherine Bradley and Barbara Weiden Boyd

This book covers the currently required passages for the AP exam and will be our primary text.

Websites: AP Vergil's Aeneid : <http://abney.homestead.com/aeneid.html>. This is the most comprehensive website for materials relating to the Vergil AP Vergil Project : <http://vergil.classics.upenn.edu/> This website has a complete interactive Latin text, that can be clicked on at any point for vocabulary and commentary. In addition, there are numerous helpful links.

vergil resources : <http://virgil.org/> This is a very helpful site, worth exploring. Among the links are two websites to hear selections of Vergil read aloud.

Virgil Home Page

http://facstaff.gpc.edu/~shale/humanities/literature/world_literature/virgil.html Another good site worth looking at. Some of the links overlap with those of other sites.

AP Latin : <http://www.txclassics.org/aplatin.htm> Although this website is intended for teachers, the section on “Teaching AP” has very useful materials, such as tips on writing the free response essay, a list of similes, scenes and speeches appearing in Books 1, 2, 4 and 6 and definitions of figures and speech and syntax. I have posted the complete vocabulary list, Book 1 outline and prelection with the class related documents.
